

Instead of visiting the beaches of Florida or the Caribbean, nearly 80 Assumption College students have opted to volunteer during their upcoming spring breaks by performing acts of community service in cities and towns up and down the eastern seaboard.

As part of the College's Campus Ministry Office's SEND Service Immersion Program , established in 1986, the students – accompanied by faculty, staff and alumni – will participate in a weeklong experience that integrates service to communities in need with education about that area's culture and opportunities for personal reflection rooted in the Gospel and Catholic Social Teaching. Through their participation in this program, students are responding to the call of Pope Francis to go out into the world to be among the poor.
