

I am Joseph Kakule Munduvuyira. I was born in the Democratic Republic of Congo (RDC), August 14, 1978.

My parents are Ferdinand Muhindo Muhuwo and Madeleine Kahambu Muhiwa. They are Christians. I come from Mbau, a small village in the Eastern part of the DRC. I am a native of an Assumptionist Parish. Thus, I knew the Assumptionist family since I was young.

I finished my High School in 1998. Then, during my “gap” year, I was able to work a bit for about 7 months in a refugee camp so as to distribute food to the refugees. This moment is important in my vocation because it permitted me to be more in touch or in contact with the Assumption family nearby, I mean where the camp was built. And sometimes, I could go to their evening prayer.
