BENI
SCHOOL PROJECT

Dear Friends,

I received news this past week that a new outbreak of violence occurred some 25 miles north of Beni (see article on p. 2 with details and some background information on the situation in this region of the Congo). After a brief lull, it appears that rebel factions have re-mobilized and have set out to re-install their reign of terror in the area.

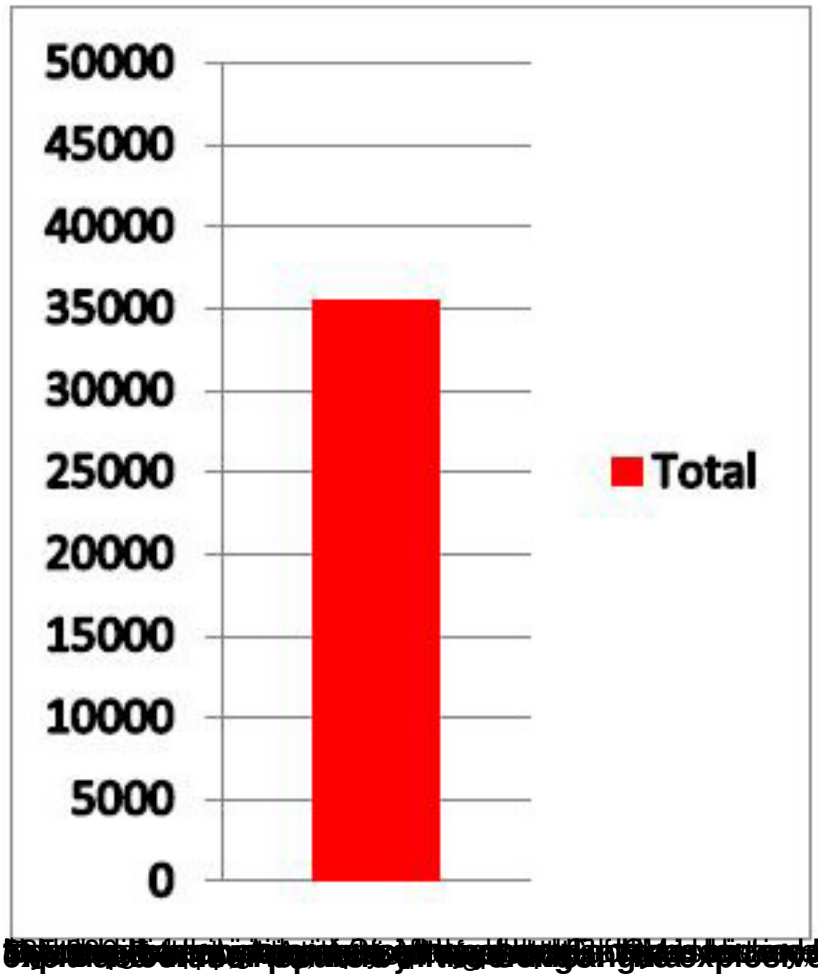

Thousands of internal migrants seek refuge in Beni as a result of regional conflict
