The Assumptionists have four houses in Santiago, one in the port city of Valparaíso, two in Rengo, an hour south of Santiago, and one in Lota, just 30 miles south of Concepción, near the epicenter of the earthquake (400 miles south of Santiago) . Lota is a poor, former coal-mining town on the Pacific Ocean where we have a huge parish and a school (elementary and high school).

Please donate now to support the Assumptionists in Chile. Thank you!

In U.S. Dollars
In Euros

More Stories on the situation in Chile after the Earthquake:

- Tuesday, March 16, 2010, report from Father Esteban, A.A. from Lota, Chile
- Saturday, March 6, 2010 from Lota, Chile
- Tuesday, March 2, 2010 news from Brother Ramon, A.A.
- Tuesday, March 2, 2010 from Rengo, Chile
- Monday, March 1, 2010 from Lota, Chile
- Sunday, February 28, 2010
- Saturday, February, 27, 2010