

The community of the Assumptionist Center, that is the religious, residents and staff, gathered last Friday to officially begin the new academic year by observing Adveniat Day. Both new members and those who have returned began our Adveniat evening with prayer, followed by a welcome by Fr. Simon who is the superior of the house. Raphael Yabut, our interim resident coordinator while Bro. Blair is on sabbatical, then asked us to reflect and discuss in small groups what has nourished our community life during the past year and what are the areas in which we need to grow. This activity was followed by an interactive, energetic and hope-filled open discussion by the whole group. Michelle topped off the gathering with another one of her outstanding dinners. Let the year begin!
