What a wonderful afternoon last Friday with all of you. It's been a busy time this last few months and somewhat intense, but I have had lots of smiles on my face this past week as I think back on last Friday. The thoughts and feelings have pleasantly tempered some of the intensity. Absolutely let's do it again. We sure did a lot of stuff. Aside to Matt: I thought we looked pretty good having braved the cold and barren northeast all these years while you dwell in paradise. Then again - it's your word against our photos. Post up.
Best to all of you. Will see you again.
