

Certainly the first meetings of the Plenary General Council gave rise to certain hesitations. But we must accept that for this third edition, the Council has begun to forge its own experience. After an apprenticeship phase, we are now used to working together. Each one knows that the work of the PGC is founded on the work of the base and the co-responsibility of the Provincials and their various Councils.

Read more » PDF version